NORTHWEST AIRLINES FLIGHT #305,
PORTLAND TO SEATTLE
11/24/71
CAA - HIJACKING; EXTORTION

Ground search conducted in vicinity of County Road 42 and Peart Road, Clark County, Washington by walking the area. This location is the mid-point of the circle based upon information furnished by Northwest Airlines. Terrain found to have extremely heavy brush in areas which were not open fields. Amount of coverage was 1/3 of a mile by a mile and a half long, with nine Agents utilized in search procedure. Negative Results. Each of the heavily brushed areas were impenetrable.

Elation, Freedom:

This Man Jumps From Airplanes for 'Kicks'

Here we have a man who jumps out of airplanes for fun.

He falls at 120 miles an hour. He glides like a bird. He blossoms out with a parachute. He lands with a bump.

He's always a little fearful before each jump, but he thinks that's OK. His name is Sheridan Peterson, former Montana smoke jumper, now a Boeing Employees Skydiver.

Skydiving is fun, but . . . let's let Sheridan describe it. "When jumping I'm a little uncertain, however, I've built up my self confidence. I still have a little fear, but I feel if you don't feel a tinge of fear you might become a little careless."

WHAT'S IT LIKE?

Well, what's skydiving like? What kind of attitude does one have when jumping out of an airplane? Why is it fun?

"You really have no sensation of dropping . . . it's like floating on a river of air. The farther you fall the firmer the air feels," Peterson explains.

"There are many reasons why people skydive," Peterson said. "It's simply a sport with unlimited challenge. It's a sensation of freedom when you're sailing through space at 120 to 130 miles an hour. Some enjoy the excitement of fear—it makes all the other problems one might have seem trivial. It's a release. There also is a feeling of elation when the chute opens."

SHERIDAN Peterson, skydiver, strikes typical high altitude in-flight pose

● FLYER SMOKE JUMPER

"I first started jumping as a smoke jumper in Montana," said Peterson. "It was in the early 50s when I was a student at the University of Missouri. At the time I was quite interested in being a writer and I was looking for new experience—broadening my base of knowledge.

"I read an article about smoke-jumping in a magazine and sent in my application. Two years later I was accepted. We were employed by the U.S. Forest Service to contain fires in isolated areas in Montana.

"My first jump was quite an experience," Peterson recalls. "At 2,500 feet I knew I was going to jump. I wanted to, yet I didn't. Then my instructor gave me a heavy pat and out I went . . . my eyes were closed. In fact, my eyes were closed during the first five jumps."

Peterson did his first free fall in 1953. He wished he hadn't. He jumped out and tumbled head over heels "for quite a distance." Peterson then pulled the ripcord and nothing happened. Finally, in desperation, the smokejumper-turned-skydiver, "threw" the ripcord. The parachute blossomed, but Peterson didn't know how to guide it.

● NEAR ACCIDENT

"I just barely missed some power lines," Peterson said, "but my chute didn't. There I was suspended from the lines. This taught me the dangers of unsupervised jumping."

What's the difference between skydiving and regular parachuting? Peterson says when a regular parachutist jumps his chute is opened automatically by a static line connected to an airplane. When a skydiver jumps, he releases the parachute himself, thereby allowing him time to "sail" through the atmosphere.

Peterson didn't skydive again until last February. As a newspaper reporter, he did the jump to get a story for the Tri-City Herald. (He's now a technical editor in Org. 2-5000.) When Peterson came to work for Boeing last May he helped organize the Boeing Employees Skydiving Club. Now he jumps almost every Sunday. (The club has a 60-acre pasture near Kent.)

Peterson maintains there's a lot of interest in skydiving. He said he received more than 100 telephone calls about the club when a skydiving article appeared in The Boeing News. Sheridan has 13 skydives to his credit.

● TESTS REQUIRED

When one wants to be a skydiver, one has to go through supervised testing period. First there's short delays—then the delays (from airplane to release of parachute) get longer. Then there are licensing phases. And, all club jumps are supervised by a safety officer. Then—if the main parachute fails, skydivers always have an auxiliary one. Consequently skydiving is quite safe, maintains Sheridan Peterson.

So, all you seekers of "freedom," "new experience," "adventure," "release"—just call Sheridan Peterson at Ext. 5-2234 and sign up for the club. The minimum age is 18; the maximum age is a little vague—around retirement age, Peterson comments.

There's only one minor drawback. If you're married, keep an eye on your wife. "Wives," says Peterson, "are considered by many to be the greatest obstacle to skydiving. There seems to be one way out of this problem—get more women interested in the sport."

Skydiver Places in Sunnyside Tourney

Paul M. Clifford, Boeing Employee Skydivers' president, placed third in the style event at the second annual Central Washington Skydiving tournament at Sunnyside last Saturday and Sunday.

Clifford, a professional exhibitionist with more than 270 delay-falls, made a figure eight and a back roll in less than 15 seconds from 4,000 feet. Rainy weather imposed the low-altitude regulation on the stunt jumpers who ordinarily fall from 7,200 feet.

Six other Boeing employees participated in the contest. David Lithgow, Ralph Mulvihill and Clifford competed in the senior spot jumping, team jumping, and style jumps. Those competing in the junior event were Jack Simmons, Jim O'Brien, Sheridan Peterson and Peter Thomas.

Hijacker's Note of Thanks?

United Press International

A note from "D. B. Cooper" reading, "Thanks for hospitality," was turned over to the FBI yesterday on the chance it was sent by the parachuting airline hijacker who got away with $200,000 ransom last week.

The note, with printed words pasted to a piece of paper, was received by Reno Newspapers, Inc. It was addressed in light hand-printed pencil to "Reno Newspaper, Reno, Nev.," and postmarked Oakdale, Calif., a small town southeast of Stockton. It read:

"Attention. Thanks for hospitality. Was in a rut, D. B. Cooper."

"D. B. Cooper" was the name given by the swarthy man who hijacked a Northwest Airlines 727 jetliner Wednesday, collected $200,000 ransom, and then escaped by parachute while the plane was flying from Seattle to Reno.

"Cooper," a name the FBI said is probably an alias, caught the fancy of some people for the daring nature of his crime and for its apparent success in "beating the system."

FBI agents—not charmed at all by the hijacker's caper — continued their dogged search yesterday in a 15-square-mile area around Woodland, in Clark County, where they think he came down after leaping from the plane.

Tom Manning, the agent in charge, suggested the hijacker may be marooned in the rugged Cascade foothills with a broken leg.

But some local law officers frankly admit, off the record, that they think he's sitting in a hotel in Mexico with the loot.

Others promote the theory, "The damn fool probably killed himself," and go about business as usual.

One policeman at Woodland said confidently:

"Come next deer season some hunter will find him."

MINNEAPOLIS, IN A CONVERSATION WITH THIS OFFICE ON NOVEMBER
TWENTYNINE LAST, ADVISED THAT THEY HAVE BEEN PASSING INFORMATION ON TO US BASED ON THE QUOTE PRESSURE BUMP ENQUOTE INDICATING THAT THE MAN HAD JUMPED NORTH OF PORTLAND. HE SAID IT WAS ENTIRELY POSSIBLE THAT THE MAN DID NOT JUMP WHEN THIS PRESSURE BUMP TOOK PLACE. IT WAS ENTIRELY POSSIBLE THAT HE SAT ON THE END OF THE STAIRS TO CHECK OUT HIS REFERENCE POINTS BEFORE HE JUMPED. IF HE DID THIS FOR EVEN A SHORT TIME, HE COULD HAVE EASILY LANDED ACROSS THE RIVER IN OREGON. HE POINTED OUT IN THIS CONNECTION THAT THERE IS AN AURORA FIELD NEAR DONALD, OREGON.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of transcription 11/30/71

[redacted] Homicide Section,
Seattle Police Department. telephone [redacted] home address [redacted] provided the following information:

b6
b7C

At approximately 4:45 PM, November 24, 1971, [redacted] was advised by the Chief of Detectives that there was an extortion in progress at Sea-Tac Airport. [redacted] then drove his unmarked police vehicle to the Seattle First National Bank where he met various bank officials who had in their possession $200,000. in currency. He drove them to the airport, reaching the Northwest Airlines Operation Center approximately 5 PM. There the money was transferred from the bank officials to a Northwest Airlines official, [redacted] Also four parachutes were loaded into the police car as were eight crew meals and one set of instructions for exiting the Boeing 727.

b6
b7C

[redacted] then drove the vehicle out onto the runway.
His car was followed by a stairway truck and a gas truck.
He stopped the vehicle approximately 300 yards from the plane landing area at approximately 5:45 PM. Shortly thereafter he observed the plane land and drove the car to the ten to eleven o'clock angle of the nose of the plane. He remained in the parked car and a short time later one stewardess exited the plane via the stair truck and approached his car. She obtained the sack containing the $200,000. and took it on board the plane. She made other trips from the car to the plane carrying the parachutes and the exiting instructions and the flight crew meals.

b6
b7C

During this period of time, all of the passengers left the plane and proceeded approximately 200 feet beyond the police vehicle. The passengers boarded a bus which met them at that area and then the bus proceeded toward the terminal.

At approximately 7:25 PM [redacted] drove the police vehicle from the area of the plane and returned to the terminal. This was done upon instructions he received from the captain.

NORTHWEST AIRLINES FLIGHT 305
PORTLAND TO SEATTLE, 11/24/71
CAA - HIJACKING; EXTORTION

On 11/29/71 I talked to [redacted]
[redacted] Northwest Airlines, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

b6
b7C

I pointed out to him that I had examined the log of this flight very carefully and it would appear that the area in which we are currently searching is the most logical one to search. However, I was curious to know if the pilot would be able to detect a difference in the trim of the plane, caused by the added weight brought about through the hijacker's descent on the stairway.

[redacted] said this would very likely be detected by the pilot were it not for the fact that the plane was on "automatic pilot" during the flight, which he described as being a normal procedure. He continued, however, and said he had examined minutely the flight recorder record and was unable to detect any similar occurrence in the airplane at the site we are presently searching. He advised that in view of this very likely there would be no other logical place to commence a search at this time.

Enclosed for each receiving office are two copies of an artist's conception of captioned unsub.

Shortly after 3:00 p.m. Pacific Standard Time (PST) 11/24/71, a lone white male traveling from Portland, Oregon, to Seattle, Washington, on captioned flight displayed the contents of his brief case to a stewardess indicating to her it was a bomb which would be exploded unless his demands were met. The hijacker indicated his willingness to exchange the safety of the 36 passengers and crew for $200,000 in cash and four parachutes. He instructed that the plane circle the Seattle airport until his demands were met at which time the plane landed. Once the money and parachutes were loaded and the plane was being refueled, the hijacker allowed the passengers and two airline stewardesses to deplane leaving a flight crew of three males and one female and the hijacker aboard. The hijacker indicated a desire to fly to Mexico City and instructed the plane to take off flying at a low altitude and slow speed, maintaining a southerly direction. Upon demand the hijacker was instructed on lowering the rear passenger door while the aircraft was in flight. He was last seen in the aircraft by crew members at 8:05 p.m. PST, when he instructed the hostage stewardess to go forward to the first class section and close the curtains behind her. Stewardess complied, going through first class section into pilot's cockpit and locking door behind her. Prior to departing from passenger cabin, hijacker told stewardess the money bag was not in accordance with instructions and to cut up one of the parachutes to rewrap the money, which was done. When the aircraft landed at Reno, Nevada, for refueling, the hijacker, two parachutes, the ransom money, and the vinyl brief case had disappeared.

Investigation determined that the hijacker had purchased his ticket at the Portland Airport shortly before the plane's departure. Upon arrival at Seattle, all passengers were accounted for except a white male using the name Dan Cooper. There were no sky marshals aboard this flight and at no time did subject show any firearms.

From information available, the subject is described as white male, mid 40's, 5'10" to 6', 170 to 180 pounds, average to well built, olive or swarthy complexion, medium smooth, dark brown or black hair parted on left side, combed back, sideburns to low ear level, dark eyes, probably black or brown. Subject wore a dark suit, white shirt, with narrow black tie. He wore dark glasses with plastic rims (possibly prescription lenses) most of the time. He had dark overcoat and was described as cool and calculating. His voice was low. He spoke intelligently and was a heavy smoker of Raleigh filter tip cigarettes.

All leads should be handled immediately and set out telephonically and confirmed by teletype. The Bureau must be kept advised of all pertinent developments as they occur. A list of the loot is being prepared and will be disseminated. Consider subject dangerous.

Re: [redacted]

At approximately 9:00 PM, 12/1/71, I telephoned SAC MILNES in Washington, D.C. I told him that at approximately 5:00 PM on the evening of 12/1/71, COP GEORGE TIELSCH had called Supervisor J. ROBERT SUTTHOFF because of the fact he had been unable to get in touch with the SAC or ASAC. He told SUTTHOFF that one of the detectives had some information from an informant that might be important in this case.

I sent SAs [redacted] and STEELE over to the Police Department immediately and they subsequently advised me that TIELSCH had introduced them to [redacted] and [redacted] of the Seattle PD. [redacted] has an informant whom he would not identify who told [redacted] that the $200,000 was [redacted] and that the subject was [redacted]. He also told [redacted] during the 1960s. [redacted] through inquiry, had decided that this was [redacted] in 1961. [redacted] had obtained a photo of [redacted] which was taken in [redacted] was arrested for [redacted]. He had retouched this photo to put dark glasses on the eyes and thought it had a striking resemblance to the hijacker. He told the Agents that [redacted] were going to fly to Minneapolis at noon on 12/2/71, and show this photo to the crew members.

I told MR. RE: UNKNOWN SUSPECT, WASHINGTON LICENSE [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

At 11:50 AM, today, I received an anonymous telephone call from a person who described himself as [REDACTED] but declined to give any further information concerning himself.

b7D

This caller advised that he had just seen a person who very much resembled the pictures of the hijacker which had appeared in the local newspapers. This individual was seen in a Mayfair Supermarket at 127 th and Ambaum. The caller noticed that the UNSUB seemed to be pressing a mustache on to his face. It was not know whether the mustache was artificial or whether the person may have been irritated by a sore in the vicinity of his mustache. The caller observed the UNSUB leave the supermarket and get into a creme colored VW license [REDACTED] and drive north on Ambaum until the caller lost the UNSUB.

b6
b7C

The caller stated that he saw the UNSUB at approximately 11:30 AM and described the UNSUB as 6'1" with dark brown hair possibly having pock marks on the back of his neck. The called was unable to furnish any further identifying information except that the license plate holder had a name something like [REDACTED] Autos.

b6
b7C

A DMV check on license [REDACTED] indicates that this vehicle is a 1971 VW registered to [REDACTED] Seattle, with the owner being the [REDACTED] Washington.
